Join us (and be ready to take notes) for an afternoon virtual conversation with communication expert Jefferson Fisher, as we chat about his book, The Next Conversation: Argue Less, Talk More.

No matter who you're talking to, The Next Conversation gives you immediately actionable strategies and phrases that will forever change how you communicate. Jefferson Fisher, trial lawyer and one of the leading voices on real-world communication, offers a tried-and-true framework that will show you how to transform your life and your relationships by improving your next conversation.

Whether it's handling a heated conversation, dealing with a difficult personality, or standing your ground with confidence, his down-to-earth teachings have helped countless people navigate life's toughest situations. Now for the first time, in his book The Next Conversation, Fisher has distilled his three-part communication system (Say it with control, Say it with confidence, Say it to connect) that can easily be applied to any situation.

The Next Conversation gives you practical phrases that will lead to powerful results, from breaking down defensiveness in a hard talk with a family member to finding your own assertive voice at the boardroom conference table. Your every word matters, and by controlling how you communicate every day, you will create waves of positive impact that will resonate throughout your relationships to last a lifetime.

Everything you want to say, and how you want to say it, can be found in The Next Conversation, the definitive book on making your next conversation the one that changes everything. Register now!

About the Author: Jefferson Fisher is a board-certified Texas trial lawyer and founder of Fisher Firm. With his extensive experience as a trial lawyer, Jefferson understands the art of persuading and communicating effectively in high-conflict situations. He is one of the most sought-after names in functional thinking for modern-day communication. Known for his practical videos and authentic presence, Jefferson has amassed over 9 million social media followers-making him the most followed litigation attorney in the world in less than a year, all from inside his vehicle. Jefferson's followers include high-profile names such as Dwayne "The Rock" Johnson, Jesse Williams, Dr. Andrew Huberman, Sarah Silverman, Lewis Howes, and many more. Jefferson is on a mission to be a messenger of positivity in the world and help people learn to talk to each other again - one conversation at a time.

Our Failed Attempts to Make English Eezier to Spell with Author Gabe Henry

Online SCLD Library Event

11:00 AM - 12:00 PM PST

Christie , 5098938374

conzay@sclld.org

Registration is required to view the live event and submit questions for the author.

Register using the Event URL below.

Have you ever wondered why the English spelling of words is sometimes... well... just weird? Come on a surprisingly hilarious journey with us and author Gabe Henry through the history of the English language, while we discuss troublemakers like Mark Twain who broke all the rules.

Anyone who has the misfortune to write in English will, every now and then, struggle with its spelling. In our erratic system, choir and liar rhyme, daughter and laughter don't, and somehow you and ewe can't agree on a single letter. So why do we still use it? If our spelling is so inconsistent, why haven't we tried to fix it?

In the comic annals of linguistic history, legions of rebel wordsmiths have died on the hill of spelling reform, risking their reputations to simplify English spelling. This book is about them: Mark Twain, Eliza Burnz, Noah Webster, Upton Sinclair, Emma Dearborn, Theodore Roosevelt, Benjamin Franklin, and the countless other "simplified spellers" who, for a time in their lives, became fanatic about writing kof instead of cough, tung for tongue, and fyzics for physics (and tried futilely to get everyone around them to do it too).

In Enough is Enuf, Gabe Henry humorously traces the "simplified spelling movement" from medieval England to Revolutionary America, from the birth of standup comedy to contemporary pop music, and explores its lasting influence in words like color (without a U), plow (without -ugh), and the iconic '90s ballad "Nothing Compares 2 U." Finally, Henry brings us to the digital age, where the swift pace of online exchanges now pushes us all 2ward simplification.

Register now for this informative and entertaining conversation to find out why Gabe Henry thinks UR not a bad speller, the English language is.

About the Author: Gabe Henry is the author of three books including the poetry anthology Eating Salad Drunk, a humor collaboration with Jerry Seinfeld, Bob Odenkirk, Mike Birbiglia, Margaret Cho, and other titans of comedy. Eating Salad Drunk was featured in The New Yorker in February 2022 ("A Smattering of Haiku for the Burnout Age") and ranked one of Vulture's Best Comedy Books of 2022. Henry's work has been published in TIME, New York Magazine, The New Yorker, the Weekly Humorist, US News & World Report, and more. He has spent more than a decade exploring the strange and forgotten history of simplified spelling, which, by his own admission, has only made him a worse speller. He lives and works in New York. Spokane's 2025 Regional Transportation Summit

08:00 AM - 11:30 AM PST

Savannah Creasey, (509) 343-6370

screasey@srtc.org

You are invited to Spokane's third annual Regional Transportation Summit. Join transportation professionals, elected officials, business leaders, and other community members for a morning of networking, learning, and collaboration.

This year's event revolves around Horizon 2050, the region's long-range transportation plan. Looking 20+ years into the future and considering all modes of transportation, the plan outlines where we are, where we are going, and how we are going to get there. It includes information on technology and growth trends, key transportation projects and investments, land use, community feedback, and more. Stay tuned for details about our keynote speaker and local leaders who will dive into these important topics surrounding the future of transportation in Spokane County.

Don't miss your chance to participate in this regional conversation! Secure your spot and early bird pricing today!

This event would not be possible without our partners and sponsors. If you are interested in supporting this event through our sponsorship opportunities, click HERE for more information.

Learn more about past iterations of the Summit HERE.

Event questions? Contact Savannah Creasey at screasey@srtc.org or (509) 343-6370.

Note: There will be 30 minutes after this event for additional networking opportunities.

Welcome to Eastern Washington University's 2026 Winter Career Fair!

We very much appreciate your continued interest in and support for our amazing students and alumni. In order to make this a fun and productive recruitment experience, please be sure to complete this form as accurately and completely as possible.

This fair is designed to specifically serve all students participating in our academic programs. We encourage you to only select majors that you're actively interested in recruiting. This allows us to better prepare students and more easily connect them with you. If you have questions at any point, do not hesitate to call or email Casey Mowatt at cmowatt@ewu.edu.

Don't delay! Click the "Register" button above now and let's get started.
