How We Create Pandemics, From Our Bodies to Our Beliefs with Smithsonian Curator Sabrina Sholts

Online SCLD Library Event

11:00 AM - 12:00 PM PST

Crystal, 5098938375

cmiller@sclcd.org

Registration required to view live. Register using the Event URL below.

Join us for this enlightening presentation with Smithsonian curator Sabrina Sholts as she talks about how the very fact of being human increases our pandemic risks—and gives us the power to save ourselves.

*The COVID-19 pandemic won't be our last—because what makes us vulnerable to pandemics also makes us human. That is the uncomfortable but all-too-timely message of The Human Disease: How We Create Pandemics, From Our Bodies to Our Beliefs, which travels through history and around the globe to examine how and why pandemics are an inescapable threat of our own making. Drawing on dozens of disciplines—from medicine, epidemiology, and microbiology to anthropology, sociology, ecology, and neuroscience—as well as a unique expertise in public education about emerging infectious diseases, biological anthropologist Sabrina Sholts identifies the human traits and tendencies that double as pandemic liabilities, from the anatomy that defines us to the misperceptions that divide us.*

*Weaving together a wealth of personal experiences, scientific findings, and historical stories, Sholts brings dramatic and much-needed clarity to one of the most profound challenges we face as a species. Though the COVID-19 pandemic looms large in Sholts's account, it is, in fact, just one of the many infectious disease events explored in The Human Disease. With its expansive, evolutionary perspective, the book explains how humanity will continue to face new pandemics because humans cause them, by the ways that we are and the things that we do. By recognizing our risks, Sholts suggests, we can take actions to reduce them. When the next pandemic happens, and how bad it becomes, are largely within our highly capable human hands—and will be determined by what we do with our extraordinary human brains. A presentation you don't want to miss, register now!*

About the Author:

*Sabrina Sholts is a biological anthropologist and Curator of Biological Anthropology at the Smithsonian's National Museum of Natural History (NMNH). Her research explores intersections of human, animal, and environmental health in the past and present. She received her PhD in Anthropology at UC Santa Barbara and was a postdoctoral researcher at UC Berkeley in Integrative Biology and at Stockholm University in Biophysics and Biochemistry. Sholts has published widely in academic journals including American Journal of Biological Anthropology, Environmental Health Perspectives, JAMA, PNAS, Scientific Reports, Proceedings of the Royal Society B, and Nature Ecology & Evolution, and written for popular audiences in Scientific American and Smithsonian Magazine. She was named as a World Economic Forum Young Scientist in 2019. In addition, she was Lead Curator of the exhibition Outbreak: Epidemics in a Connected World at the NMNH (2018-2022) and a scientific advisor for the related exhibition Épidémies: Prendre soin du vivant at the musée des Confluences in Lyon, France (2024-2025).*

Roos Field, Cheney, WA

- Networking will be from 7:30 AM to 8:00 AM

- Breakfast is served and the presentation will begin at 8:15 AM

Join us for our annual West Plains Chamber Breakfast, an event steeped in tradition and camaraderie, held on the famous Red Turf at Roos Field, Eastern Washington University.

In keeping with our tradition, we are also pleased to have Coach Best joining us. Known for his inspiring speeches and dedication to his team, Coach Best will share updates from the past year and his outlook for the upcoming season.

This is a unique opportunity to not only bask in the ambiance of the vibrant Red Turf, but also connect with the West Plains business community and university leaders. You'll have a chance to learn about the latest happenings in EWU athletics, engage in insightful discussions, and form lasting connections.

We invite you to join us for a breakfast to remember, filled with lively talks, delicious food, and good company. Don't miss this opportunity to start your day on the energizing Red Turf and be a part of this stimulating event that promises to kickstart an exciting year of sports at EWU!
